

“After hearing Ellen's vivacious webinar on Office Depot's online business series, I was more than thrilled to interview her on both of my network business shows KIVA Talk Radio and KIVA Biz Talk. She's insightful, honest and adds a breath of lively fresh air to explaining business marketing and financing. Her creative explanation of how to make a business plan has been widely received by my audience and received the most feedback. She has an easy to comprehend style of explaining what specifically to include in a business plan and why.

“Ellen would be a great guest for any show whether radio or TV.”

She's extremely easy to work with because she understands how to tailor the content to fit the audience. On top of that, she keeps listeners tuned in with her energy, her lively personality, her wit and her knowledge about growing a small business.
